THEME OF THE MONTH

Understanding nature and its definitions it is only the beginning of the exploration of this Unit. Generating in-depth and detailed inquiries into our relationship with other individuals, beings, resources and, in general, elements of the environment, will allow our students to see themselves as part of what we have called nature. They will also explore different ways of understanding and interpreting the messages that communicate all natural elements, thus developing sensitivity to everything they can learn from what happens in nature.
